SHEA BUTTER WORKSHOP

Chason Yeboah's Shea Butter Workshop will teach participants how to create their own shea butter lotion while being educated on its healing properties. The workshop will also teach participants the history of shea butter, its traditional uses and how its beneficial properties.

Chason Yeboah

Chason Yeboah is a Canadian sculptor, doll maker, and story-teller. She explores the oscillation of ancestral communion through woven, reconstructed, and (un) ravelled structures. Many of her works directly focus on themes of shame, loss of identity, sexuality, and the practice of self-love. Her desire is to explore the interconnectivity of these themes through her inclusive dolls, personification structures, or “safe space” creations, igniting conversation on communal awareness.

WELLNESS WORKSHOP

Fahra Panos' Wellness Workshops are rooted in self care and mindfulness. The goal is to help participants mitigate stress through practical solutions that they can apply in their everyday life. With her practitioners, Fahra offers a range of healing modalities from meditation to energy healing.

Fahra Panos

Fahra Panos is a lightworker who has been transformed by the power of energy healing and as a result, is a strong advocate for the work that Healers do for humanity. Fahra has been on the spiritual path for the last twenty years and through this journey has come to understand, unequivocally, that her purpose on this earth is to bring light to as many people as she can. It is through this compulsion and insight that Fahra has diverted from her long career in dentistry for the last 20 years and is dedicating herself to being a conduit between Healers and those in need of their expertise.

CERAMICS WORKSHOPS

Adam William's Ceramics Workshops are centred around teaching basic hand building skills such as coiling, slab work and simple sculpting. While technique is the main teaching objective, recreation is the priority. Participants are encouraged to have fun and be imaginative rather than feel the pressure of making perfect items. Adam is the owner and founder of Clay Space Studio in the east end of Toronto and has the resources to fire the ceramic works.

Adam Williams

Adam Williams was born in Trinidad in 1982 and grew up in Barbados. His work encompasses both functional ceramics and sculpture. Adam began studying at the Ontario College of Art and Design in Toronto, Canada in 2000, with a major in Drawing in Painting. In 2003, after taking an introductory to ceramics class, he shifted his focus to clay. He returned to Trinidad in 2005 and resumed his degree at the University of the West Indies at St. Augustine, graduating in 2010.

In 2011 Adam moved back to Toronto and practiced as a ceramic artist and potter as well as teaching at various community centers.

Adam's focus over the past five years has shifted from one-of-a-kind pottery production to sculpture. He now explores issues surrounding human sexuality and homonormatism using clay figurines.
